

THE CRIST MILL

Narberth's Fourth of July celebration, observed on the 5th, was a grand success without a doubt, no possible doubt whatever, unless it were in the minds of a few air raid wardens trapped in the down-pour which held off until their CD wagons were nearly berthed. They blamed the last speaker who described the fire bomb quenching technique, at too great length. The wardens, incidentally, were a trifle over-zealous in dousing the blaze in the ancient tool box filled with crates and excelsior and fire creating agents. Without giving the fire too much of a start, the ardent wardens swarmed around, like bees about a succulent flower, playing the streams of water from their Indian pumps on the blazing pile. Fire Chief Nulty counseled patience in letting the pile get a good start but the wardens figured they might as well try their hand at putting it out before Jupiter Plusius took over—as Jue did shortly.

The ladies who prepared the excellent repast served at noon-time at the Playground on Monday deserved much credit. The sandwiches and hot dogs were excellent, the deviled eggs tasty, the soft drinks ice-cold and the ice cream, well we were too full to sample it, but it disappeared rapidly.

The collections of knick-knacks, antiques and what-nots in the girl scouting wing of the Community Building was a revelation, at least to this correspondent. We had no idea that so many interesting and valuable articles could be assembled for such an occasion without going beyond the confines of Narberth. The knife, sword and dagger collection was particularly interesting to us. The wavy, edged Philippine Kress and the neat number with the hook, like a half moon, intrigued us especially. We commend them to the attention of the Commandos and Rangers.

In the Legion Room, the collection of photos of boys from the community in the service was a thrilling sight. Smiling and serious, studio pictures and snapshots, they were a fine looking lot of men and Narberth may well be proud of them all. The number of officers' pictures on display was an interesting commentary also on the alertness of the Narberth youth and their qualifications of leadership and ability.

We would be remiss, as the politicians say, if proper credit was not accorded the gentleman who worked unceasingly to bring the whole Fourth of July program to pass. True he had lots of helpers and assistants but it was he who whipped up the entire affair, out of whole cloth and provided a notable day and night. The Harold D. Speakman Post of the American Legion provided an hour's entertainment in the evening of excellent movies but the gentleman to whom we refer did most of the promotional, organizing and co-ordinating work which had to be done, and there was plenty. Despite the absence of the traditional fireworks display, the day and night were full of fun, entertainment and patriotic inspiration (we won't soon forget cocky, courageous young Sergeant Ladd), and for most of the doings we are indebted to the aforementioned gentleman. Take a bow, J. J.!

Tin Cans Needed For Salvage Drive

Tin cans, salvaged by the Lower Merion school children during school months, are still high on the "must" list for salvage during the summer. The children collected more than a million cans, but more are urgently needed.

"Prepare cans," says Ralph E. Springer, chairman of the Salvage Committee of the Council of Defense of Lower Merion. "will be received at all of the twelve public grade and high schools, which will be open for this purpose. Information can be obtained from the supervisor of play at the nearest playground."

The need for tin has never been greater. All housekeepers are requested to prepare and save cans in a separate container to be put out with the ash and trash collections on regular days; or to turn their supply over to the school children of the neighborhood to be taken to the nearest school.

ATTEND COLLEGE

Miss Mary Henderson, of Dolly Apts., Bryn Mawr, and Benjamin F. Rieker, 102 Llanfair Rd., Bala-Cynwyd, are enrolled in Northwestern University's summer session which opened an 11-week term, June 21.

Rotary Club Installs Officers at Overbrook

Kirkpatrick Succeeds Purse as President; Awards Given for 16 Years' Perfect Attendance to Two Members

New officers of the Bala-Cynwyd Narberth Rotary Club were installed at the special meeting held on Tuesday night at the Overbrook Golf Club. District Governor Leonard Paret presided at the ceremonies.

George W. R. Kirkpatrick, principal of the Bala-Cynwyd Junior High School was installed as president. The Rev. Robert E. Kelton, pastor of the Baptist Church of the Evangel in Narberth, is the new vice president. Other officers are Dr. E. R. Disbrow, Jr., secretary, and Hervey Kelm, treasurer.

Members of the board of directors are William S. Howard, Dr. E. Munro Purse, retiring president of the club, and Richard C. Gillis, Dr. Richard Mears, U. S. Naval Reserve, now on active duty is retiring from the Board. Howard is also sergeant at arms.

Dr. Purse, in his closing speech as president, thanked members for the cooperation they have shown during his term of office, and urged them to give the same whole-hearted support to the new president. Kirkpatrick in assuming his new duties pledged himself to justify the members' confidence in him.

J. Bedford Wooley presented Dr. Purse with the Past President's badge, and Ralph S. Dunne presented him with a gift from the club, a pair of hurricane lamps.

Speaker of the evening was Dr. Schultz, Professor of Economics at the University of Pennsylvania. Dr. Schultz spoke on "Russia," discussing some little-known facts of life and government in the Soviet Union. Following his lecture there was a question and answer period. The speaker was introduced by Dr. Barclay Jones, of the Friends' School.

It was reported that of the twenty-nine members in the club, eleven had perfect attendance for the year. Guy Croyle, commander of the American Legion Post 355 in Bala-Cynwyd, and William S. Howard were presented with pins for sixteen years of one hundred percent attendance. J. Bedford Wooley was honored for fifteen years of perfect attendance. Alvin Shull original president of the club had 12 years. Hervey Kelm, five, Ralph Dunne and L. Stanley King, three each, and Richard Gillis and Dr. Disbrow two years each of perfect attendance.

Muscle was furnished by E. Arnold and H. Newbert, instructors at Bala-Cynwyd Junior High School.

NO NEW PHONES IN LOCAL EXCHANGE

Capacity Reached in Cynwyd-Merion-Narberth System

No new telephone installations can be made for the general public in the Cynwyd-Merion-Narberth exchange because the capacity of the local telephone system has been reached. James B. Francis, manager of the Bell Telephone Company, announced today.

"The company can only install new telephones required for direct defense or for public health, welfare or security, as defined by the War Production Board, except as future disconnections make additional service available for the public," Francis said.

"In normal times adequate telephone office additions would have been made to handle new installations," he explained, "but the War Production Board, in order to conserve critical war materials, has set a limit to the number of telephones that may be connected to a central office. That limit has been reached in the Cynwyd-Merion-Narberth exchange area."

"The telephone company sincerely regrets any inconvenience the restrictions on new installations may cause but I am confident the public will agree that war needs must come first."

COFFEE RATION EASED

The Council of Defense of Lower Merion Township points out that Stamp No. 21 for coffee in War Ration Book one will expire on July 21, or only three weeks after it became valid for use. The easing of the coffee ration is in line with the policy of the OPA to pass on to the public benefits of increased supplies whenever they exist.

203 ATTEND CLOSING OF BIBLE SCHOOL

Presbyterian Church Gives Certificates, Exhibits Work

Two hundred and three students from the Narberth Community Vacation Bible School attended the closing exercises of the school held last week, when certificates were awarded and prizes distributed.

The classes met in the Narberth Presbyterian Church, Monday through Friday, for a two-weeks' session. The program included Bible study and church history, singing, recreation and handicrafts for the various age groups under the direction of experienced teachers. The handiwork of the children was on display in the auditorium during the closing ceremonies.

Mrs. C. H. Woolnington was principal of the vacation school; Mrs. C. Q. Mackey was registrar. Superintendent of the Beginner's Department was Mrs. B. M. McSeveney. Ruth Oberdorfer was secretary and Mrs. Arthur L. Cooke, pianist.

Mrs. A. S. Digby was in charge (Continued on Page 4)

Volunteers Needed To Make Bandages

More workers are needed to assist in making surgical bandages for the new Valley Forge Hospital. Meetings are held every Tuesday at the Red Cross workrooms in Elm Hall, Narberth, to make these dressings, but volunteers are urgently needed to aid in the work.

Those interested may attend any Tuesday evening. Mrs. Henry A. Frye is in charge.

HEALTH REPORT

Sixteen new cases of chicken pox were reported in the Township during the week ending July 2. Twelve new cases of mumps have been reported also. Other contagious diseases listed were: Four of measles, three of whooping cough, and one each of German measles and meningitis.

Narberth Retains Lead by Trimming West Phils. and Overbrook

Unless its pitching collapses unexpectedly, Narberth appears a cinch for first place money in the Main Line Baseball League. The borough has passed the half-way mark in the race and still has to taste its first defeat. By sweeping both of its games over the Fourth of July week-end, Narberth boosted its streak to eight straight and increased its lead to four full games.

The steady, efficient hurling of Will O'Donnell, veteran righthander, who formerly toiled for Gladwyne, and Lefty Tomlinson, one of last year's aces, plus the relief work of rugged Al Herrmann have given Narberth its big edge.

Last week was an excellent example of their mastery. O'Donnell blanked the West Phils without a hit or run as Narberth won Sunday's scrap, 4-0, and Tomlinson limited Overbrook to six hits as

Pottstown Woman To Run For Office

Mrs. Victor J. Roberts, Jr., of Pottstown, yesterday announced her candidacy for Democratic nomination for Reg. of Wills in the September primary election.

Mrs. Roberts, who formerly resided in Norristown, the wife of a prominent Montgomery County attorney and the daughter of Julian R. She is graduate of the Pennsylvania Mum School of Industrial Art and before her marriage achieved considerable success as a commercial artist.

GIRL SCOUTS SOLD COURT OF AWARDS

Narberth Troop Gives Merit Badges at Garden Ceremony

Girl Scout Troop, No. 368 presented forty-four bays at their Court of Awards, held in the garden of their leader's home, Friday, July 2. Mrs. Samuel H. P. Read, 95 Windsor Ave., leader of the Troop, presided at the ceremony.

This marked the second Court of Awards the Troop has had in a month's time, having held one June 4. During the last year, the Girl Scouts have participated at every flag raising in the community, participated in numerous parades and other civic functions, and played an important part in the town life of Narberth.

Summer meetings will be held at the home of Mrs. Gagner Dean, of Wynnewood Rd. Bays work will be continued, with leaders putting special emphasis on campcraft.

At the Court of Awards held Friday, the following badges were awarded:

"Bill's Safe" Mother Hears From 48 States

Bill Carroll, a Narberth boy, is a German prisoner.

His mother, Mrs. S. J. Carroll, 1226 E. Montgomery Ave., heard that news a long while ago in one of those terse, impersonal telegrams sent out by the Army to notify parents of what has happened to their sons. Then there was silence, and nothing was heard from the boy across the sea for a long while . . . until this week.

And this week, Mrs. Carroll received more than 75 cards, many letters, and even some telegrams to tell her that her son was alive, well and thinking of her.

Most of the messages had the same thing to say. The writers had been tuned into a broadcast over short wave radio to a program emanating from Berlin, on which American prisoners of war sent messages home. Bill was on the program sending word to his mother that he was being well treated and was in good health.

Perhaps when he talked he was hoping some American mother on the other side of the Atlantic would give his mother his message. But he probably never dreamed that somebody in every state in the Union was going to tell his "Mom" that her boy was "okay."

One of the cards Mrs. Carroll received said that the writer was sending a card to everyone mentioned on the program just in case some had missed hearing that he was well with a love one now a prisoner in Nazi Germany.

The program was heard on Friday, at 10:15 P. M.

Canning Class To Be Held July 14-15

The Victory Garden Canning Class sponsored by the Bala-Cynwyd Woman's Club, the Bala-Cynwyd Red Cross Chapter, and the Penn Valley Garden Club will hold its meetings Wednesday and Thursday, July 14 and 15, at 10 A. M. at the Woman's Club, Levering Mill Rd. and Bala Ave. Mrs. Lloyd Church, Mrs. E. A. Whiting, and Mrs. George Sitterley will instruct. Mrs. Harry Kuhlmann is chairman of registration. Those who are interested in joining the class should call her at Cynwyd 4702.

'Kids' Admitted Free To Movie, July 15

Thursday, July 15, has been designated as "Children's Day" by the management of the Egyptian Theatre, Cynwyd.

A program has been selected that should attract youngsters of all ages. It comprises adventure, thrills and comedy.

Admission will be free to all children, manager Joseph Conway has announced, saying it is the theatre's intention to make this day a gala one; a day to be long remembered by the children and their grateful parents.

As usual there will be both afternoon and evening performances.

HOFFMAN PULLS OUT OF COUNTY FIGHT

Says State Denied Him Patronage and Moral Support

Charging that the State Administration had denied him both moral support and State patronage control, John F. Hoffman, Montgomery County Register of Wills, announced yesterday that he was withdrawing from the County's political picture.

Up until a week ago it was expected that Hoffman would run for election as register of wills and head-up the opposition to the Organization ticket being backed by Fred C. Peters, president of the Montgomery County Board of Commissioners. On this ticket Mary C. Beener, present treasurer of the County, was slated to become Republican candidate for Register of Wills.

Hoffman was linked with Mrs. John Y. Huber, chairman of the Lower Merion-Narberth Council of Republican Women, in support of Governor Martin when he was a candidate for the Republican nomination in the Primary Election of 1942. The Montgomery Organization, supported by virtually every sectional leader except these two, turned in for State Senator James (Continued on Page 4)

Water Safety Class To Open at Mill D. C.

Mrs. Russell A. Cannon, chairman, announces the opening of a life saving and water safety class under the direction of Albert Turner, Jr., on Sundays at the Mill Dam Club, starting July 11, from 9 to 11 A. M.

Turner, a graduate of the Aquatic School in North Carolina, will also aid Arlington Evans in the instruction of classes at Haverford School starting Monday, July 12.

Sergeant Sloman, also a graduate of the Aquatic School at Miami Beach, Florida, is conducting a class at the same pool. This is the same course that is being given to all the armed forces.

sired second, third, and fourth positions that still entitled the holders to participation in the post-season championship playoffs.

Pen-Mar and Manoa are locked in a second place tie, with Overbrook just a half game ahead of Brookline in fourth place. That anything can happen among these teams was proved last week. Overbrook and Brookline both helped put the skids under Pen-Mar, the former punching out a 3-1 victory last Thursday, and the Hares scoring two runs in the ninth to win a 5-4 Sunday decision. Manoa, in turn, pushed Overbrook back into the second division by chalking up a 5-1 victory on Sunday.

Narberth Goes All-Out For Gala Celebration

Town Flock to Independence Day Events; Prizes Awarded; All Local Organizations Co-operate

The people of the Borough of Narberth really went "all out" for one of the best celebrations "Our Town" has ever seen. Legion Posts, and Auxiliaries, Women's Clubs, Girl Scouts and churches of every denomination co-operated in the community festivities that lasted from morning until evening.

Dozens of prizes were distributed to those judged best in the various divisions. A baby show and parade, antique display, patriotic gallery of service men and women's portraits, curio exhibit, table arrangement contest, lecture and demonstration of Civilian Defense in action, the hobby show, etc., combined to make a gala day.

Children in gay costume lent an especially festive note to the scene, for prizes were being offered for the most original, the prettiest, funniest, and most patriotic costumes. The little girl who won first prize for originality came dressed as a Saturday Evening Post girl, while the winner of the funniest costume sported a clown's suit. And from there the costumes ran the gamut from the ridiculous to the sublime.

Curly-haired youngsters, freckle-faced kids, fat babies, came decked out in their holiday best to vie for honors in the various divisions of the baby show.

And animals ranging from a stately well-behaved police dog to a white mouse crowded together, led by proud owners seeking to win a prize for their pets in the pet show, and incidentally to display their animals to the town at large.

On the more serious side there was a dignified exhibit of antiques including rare china, glass, wax dolls, silver samplers. And local housewives vied for honors in making graceful table arrangements.

The whole affair was under the direction of J. J. Cahrey, with Mrs. Eberhardt Mueller, supervising the morning afternoon events, and the American Legion taking over at night.

Churches and other organizations took charge of tables as follows:

Evangel Baptist Church, cookies and doughnuts, with Miss E. J. Mueller and Mrs. H. F. Oestey in charge; Narberth Lutheran Church, candy and lolly pops, with Mrs. George C. Oberdorfer in charge; Narberth Methodist Church, deviled eggs and potato chips, with Mrs. Henry Frye in charge; Narberth Presbyterian Church, assorted sandwiches, with Mrs. William Schenck and Mrs. Harry Warr, assisted by Harriet Nold, Betty Holsinger and Betty McNett; St. Margaret's Church, soft drinks (Continued on Page 2)

SCOUTS TO HAVE SWIMMING MEET

Army Gives Special To Use Pool For July 16 Event

Through the courtesy of the United States Army, Boy Scouts of the Main Line District will hold their annual swimming meet at the Brookline Country Club pool.

The event, scheduled for Friday, July 16, at 7 P. M., is the first of three summer activities planned for these Troops which wish to qualify as Red Star Troops.

Shortly after the event was planned, and arrangements made to hold it at Brookline, the Army took over the Brookline Country Club grounds. Knowing that many boys would be disappointed if the event could not be held there, Scout officials appealed to the Army officers in charge. The Army officers, in granting approval for the event, expressed appreciation for the many war activities conducted by Boy Scout Troops here and throughout the nation.

Admission will be free to every Boy Scout in uniform. Each Scout is required to bring his own towel, soap and swim suit.

The events will start promptly at 7:15 P. M., under direction of Les Langan, chairman, and C. Edward Land, assistant chairman.

Included on the program is a 60-yard breast stroke, 30-yard cross chest carry, 60-yard backstroke, diving, 60-yard free style, 30-yard tired swimmer's carry, and under-water fetching. Scouts who desire may take the test for first-class swimming. At the conclusion of the events, the Scouts will be invited to enjoy a swim until closing time.

Ardmore C. of C. To Meet July 14

The regular monthly meeting of the Ardmore Chamber of Commerce will be held on July 14, at noon, at Haverford Court.

The speaker will be Mr. George W. Elliott, general secretary of the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce and Board of Trade, and former Director of Public Safety of Philadelphia.

Red Cross Seeks 150 Donors Each Day

A minimum of 150 donors a day during the August Blood Donor drive of the Main Line Red Cross will be the goal this year.

The campaign will start August 9 and continue through August 13. Red Cross workers will be out to prove that superstition has no place in war time by seeking an increased enrollment of donors on the last day of the drive, Friday the 13th.

OBITUARY

MRS. OSCAR SCHAEFER

Mrs. Oscar Schaefer, 17 Cynwyd Rd., Cynwyd, died on Wednesday, July 17. She had been a resident of Cynwyd for 35 years.

During this time, Mrs. Schaefer was active in civic and charitable enterprises in the community, being chairman of the Salvation Army Drive for many years, and recently directing the Red Cross drive also.

She was a director and treasurer of the Needlework Guild of Bala-Cynwyd, and a charter member of the Auxiliary of the Children's Heart Hospital. For thirty-five years Mrs. Schaefer served as "choir mother" at St. Asaph's.

Mrs. Schaefer is survived by her husband, and a son, Adolph. Services will be held in St. Asaph's Church Saturday, July 10, at 11 A. M.

WOODSIDE PARK

Paul Mohr, tenor, jovial master of ceremonies, will be featured at the three free Sunday concerts at Sylvan Hall, Woodside Park, with Gracie Collins, sweetheart of the blues; Helen Lane, artist of the electric guitar, and others.

Jack Steck will present his Kiddies' Hour at 2.

Crystal Pool opens daily at 11 with an extensive sand beach, Plaza and picnic grove.

Regular Woodside Park attractions include fireworks every Friday, rollerskating in the Rainbow Roller-drome, 23 thrilling amusements, and ample, well-shaded picnic groves.

GASOLINE—Coupons No. 5 "A" are valid through July 21.

TIRES—August 31 is the deadline for "C" card holders to have their tires inspected.

NEW POINT VALUES FOR JULY

Because the estimated amount of beef available for civilians during July will be about 8 or 9 per cent. that of June, and because civilians must share available beef with the armed forces and our allies, point values of most cuts of beef have been raised one point per pound, except standing 7 inch and 10-inch blade ribs which are up 2 points per pound, effective July 4. A few cuts of veal, lamb and mutton also have slightly higher point values.

Point values of most pork cuts remain unchanged, with the exception of fat backs and clear plates, jowls and regular plates which have been reduced one point per pound.

Lard and margarine—down one point per pound.
Process butter (a new item sold mainly in the south) set at 4 points per pound.

Cheese—Group 1 and Group 11, such as cream cheese, Swiss, Edam, cottage, etc., down 1 point. Cheddar remains unchanged.

Canned fish—Up 4 points a pound, including tuna, sardines, salmon, shrimp. Oysters up 2 points.

Twelve increases and ve decreases appear on the new official table point values for processed foods, effective July 4. The reductions are confined to the group "canned or bottled vegetables," such as shelled beans which have been reduced from 19 points to 11 points for the No. 2 size can—green or waxed beans which have been reduced from 14 points to 11 for the No. 2 can—and tomato pulp or puree, tomato sauces containing over 5 percent dry tomato solids, and tomato sauce in combination package with cheese, No. 1 tall cans of these products have been reduced from 10 points per can to 4 points.

In addition, and in order to stimulate the sale of this size container, the weight bracket "over seven ounces including ten ounces" is reduced from two points to one point for all juices except pineapple juice.

Point value advances are made in seven vegetable items, and in ve canned and bottle fruits, as follows: apples, No. 2 can point value increased from 5 points to 7 points; apricots and fruit cocktail, No. 2 can from 19 to 23 points; peaches, No. 2½ can, from 21 points to 23 points; Pears, No. 2½ can from 13 points to 15 points; fresh lima beans, from 19 to 20 points for No. 2 can; vacuum packed whole kernel corn, No. 2 can from 19 points to 20 points; other canned corn, No. 2 can from 14 to 16 points; peas, No. 2 can from 16 to 18 points; tomatoes, No. 2 can from 16 to 18 points; tomato catsup or chili sauce, No. 1 tall can from 13 to 20 points; and tomato paste, No. 1 picnic can, from 15 to 18 points.

YOUR NEW FUEL RATION

In answer to many inquiries received regarding value of coupons in new fuel oil rations, now being distributed by mail from War Price and Rationing Boards, the Office of Price Administration points out that each ration sheet has two types of coupons:

(1) Coupons marked with a number enclosed in a circle. Each number indicates the number of gallons for which the coupon is good—1, 5 or 10.

(2) Coupons marked "1 unit" for during specified heating periods. At the present time each is good for 10 gallons of fuel oil. No definite value is printed on the unit coupon.

OPA reminds householders that, although they may begin making use of their "1 unit" coupons, as well as their consumer reserve and change-making coupons, at once should not be used for heating purposes during the summer. Oil ordered now is made available to spread the heavy "load" of dealers. The next heating year begins October, and oil should not be used until that time.

DOCTOR'S CERTIFICATE FOR MOTOR TO RESORTS

Persons in good health who obtain doctors' certificates as a ruse to drive to the seashore or other sum and vacation spots, are violators of the non-essential drive ban and will be subject to severe penalties, according to an announcement by the Office of Price Administration. The announcement followed disclosure of a large number of apparently healthy persons in possession of such doctors' certificates, leaving resorts over the Fourth of July week-end.

Doctors' certificates, according to the OPA, will not be recognized unless the facts are such that the health of the person to whom the certificate is given requires the change in residence, and his physical condition is such that the use of public transportation facilities is impossible.

Board Penalizes Ration Violators

The Ardmore War Price and Rationing Board imposed the following penalties upon violators of gasoline rationing orders:

The basic "A" Ration of W. Edward Jordan, 1513 Sheffield La., Overbrook, was suspended for a period of six weeks, effective July 7, for failure to have tires inspected, for not having the tire inspection record in the car, and for failure to display any sticker.

The basic "A" ration of Florence M. Colfelt, 40 Linwood Ave., Ardmore, was suspended for three months for driving in excess of allowable mileage, effective July 7.

The basic "A" ration of James Allen Dash, 120 Edgewood Rd., Ardmore, was suspended for two months, commencing July 1, for driving in excess of the 35-mile speed limit.

Insure your fighting men with a deposit in the Blood Bank. The Red Cross will deliver it July 28 and 29.

Blood Donors Needed At Bala-Cynwyd Red Cross, July 28-29

The Blood Donors Unit of the American Red Cross, fully equipped and with highly trained nurses and doctors in attendance, will be at the Bala-Cynwyd headquarters on July 28 and 29. Appointments by mail and telephone are being taken now. While the Unit is here, 300 donors are needed, 100 each day. Those who donated blood three months ago are eligible again and a special effort is being made to reach individuals who have never given blood to the fighting forces.

The need for blood plasma becomes increasingly great as the war effort is continued and American men are in action on a hundred far flung battle fronts. Letters from every branch of the service tell of this great need, tell also of the faith that this need will be met.

The Philadelphia area is below its quota. Persons between the ages of 18 and 59, may make an appointment now.

The Blood Donor Committee of Bala-Cynwyd is ready to answer questions and give any further information desired.

Bala-Cynwyd Headquarters at Cynwyd Station is within two blocks of bus service. Transportation will be provided for groups of donors.

Members of the committee in charge of the blood donor unit are Mrs. Frank M. Kaufman, Mrs. A. H. Reynolds, Jr., Mrs. Paul E. Soeffing, Mrs. George Tyson, Mrs. N. F. Polwell, and Mrs. Cameron Dunlap.

J. Russell Naisby

J. Russell Naisby, 401 Woodside Ave., Narberth, died as the result of injuries suffered in a fall on Saturday. He was buried Wednesday.

Although Mr. Naisby had not lived long in Narberth, he was active in community affairs. He was air raid warden of Sector 2.

Send your blood to the battle fronts! July 28 and 29.

WPB Office For Montgomery County Discontinued

Discontinuance of the district office of the War Production Board of 306 Norristown-Penn. Trust Building, Norristown, effective at the close of business Friday (July 9), was announced today by the regional office of the WPB in Philadelphia.

Administrative responsibility for WPB affairs in the northern portion of Bucks County and the northeastern tip of Montgomery County will be transferred to the district office at 508 Hamilton Street, Allentown; telephone Allentown 3-7551.

The greater portion of Montgomery County will be served by the WPB office in the Broad Street Suburban Station Building, Philadelphia; telephone, Locust 3400. The southern portion of Bucks County, including the Doylestown area, will be served by the district office at 1102 Broad Street Bank Building, Trenton; telephone, Trenton 3-7151.

Firms or persons in these counties seeking WPB advice or assistance after Friday, however, may apply to the nearest or most convenient of the offices in Allentown, Trenton, and Philadelphia.

The Norristown office is one of nine in WPB's third region being discontinued in the interest of economy and more efficient utilization of personnel.

Ilka Chase Stars in Bucks Playhouse

Ilka Chase, star of stage, screen, radio, lecture field and writer, will be the guest artist at the Bucks County Playhouse, all next week, in S. N. Behrman's comedy "Idiography." The Playhouse is now in its second season. In the ballroom of the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel.

Miss Chase is the author of "Past Imperfect," a best seller that has reached the grand total of 200,000 copies, and will soon have a new book on the market entitled "In Bed We Cry." Her lecture tours cover the entire United States every year. She has her own radio programs that reach millions of listeners each week. Miss Chase has thrice won the award of the Best Dressed Woman.

Ilka Chase will be supported by John Effrat, Frieda Altman, Russell Collins, Judson Laire, Edward Hunt, William David and Judith Abbott.

"Idiography" has been staged by Arthur Sircorn, his first assignment since receiving an honorable discharge from the Army. Leo Kerz designed the setting.

Keystone Wants Gas Situation Clarified

"All the motoring public on the Eastern Seaboard wants is assurance that the drastic restrictions imposed by OPA are, in fact, essential to the war effort. Until the maze of conflicting opinion in official Washington is cleared up, there can be no such assurance, and that is why we earnestly hope quick action will be taken to settle, once and for all time, questions which now are unnecessarily agitating and confusing to the motorist."

That statement, issued by Francis J. Harrity, manager of the Main Line Division of Keystone Automobile Club, sums up the attitude of the Club on the current controversies raging over supplies of gasoline to the East. "We feel," continued the Club official, "that motorists will accept with good grace any restriction which is necessary, but they can scarcely be blamed for dissatisfaction with present conditions while there is such lack of unity on the subject in Washington."

"A thorough investigation by an impartial body such as the Baruch Committee, which cleared up the rubber mess, is definitely indicated."

CHILDREN AID RED CROSS Junior Red Cross members, now working on Red Cross projects, three times weekly, will be awarded a service insignia after completing 40 hours.

About 40 children are working in the new Red Cross Center work shop on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday of each week.

Is Our Only Salvation....

We are doing everything possible to give maximum service.

Much work is being done for Army and Navy men home on short leave which requires 'right of way' handling, so if your laundry is delayed slightly you'll know that you have given a service man the benefit of our laundry service. By holding your laundry work to a minimum you are helping to share laundry service with a greater number of people. Please do not send any more than you absolutely must.

To give you the best deliveries possible schedules are being arranged to make your call every other week, so that we may pick up your laundry when we deliver your finished work.

Shortage of help and drastic reductions in our gasoline allowance makes this necessary.

This Week in Washington

WASHINGTON, D. C. (NWNs)—Ever since the state governors got together in Columbus and compared notes on how the federal government is gradually taking over control of their states, there has been a rapidly developing movement here to cut down on the activities of out-of-Washington offices of federal agencies.

Some of the governors pointed out that the number of federal employees located in their states is five to six times as great as the number of state employees. They analyzed how these federal agencies were taking over one state power after another. As the facts came out, the governors became more and more angry over the situation and finally all got together in passing a resolution to have their executive committee stop any further encroachments on their territory. They intend to have every new piece of legislation creating a peace time bureau examined—and to work out amendments to such legislation which put the administration of new bureaus under the state governments.

Congressmen, who want the support of their state governors, are reviewing the statements of the governors with great interest. They realize that the majority of state leaders are in agreement with the sentiments strongly expressed by Governor Herbert B. Maw, of Utah, who said:

"Today the bureaus are non-political. They owe their allegiance to no party. They are affected by no elections. They are not controlled by the will of the public. Yet they are one of the strongest single political influences in the nation, throwing the weight of their huge voting power not necessarily in support of those candidates of either party that are striving to carry out the mandates of the voters, but in support of those who will sustain them in their bureaucratic security and will not disrupt their organizations."

Political analysts here were particularly interested in Governor Maw's reference to these bureau workers as "non-political." It has been the general opinion that, since many of the bureaus were created by the New Deal, that the bureaus are a strong New Deal force. But Governor Maw made it clear that, having become secure in their jobs, the bureaucrats were loyal only to themselves and would support whatever party would assure them

READING & WRITING

BY Edwin Seaver AND Robin McKinn

WHEN Stephen Vincent Benét died a short time ago, he was just putting the finishing touches to a long narrative poem called "Western Star." In this poem, he told the exciting story—as only he could tell it—of the early colonization of what we know today as the United States—particularly the founding of the Jamestown and Provincetown colonies.

STEPHEN VINCENT BENÉT

The poem was shown to the judges of the Book-of-the-Month Club while it was still in manuscript form, and they immediately selected it for distribution as one of the July choices. Rarely, the judges say, have they come across anything as thrilling as Benét's last poem.

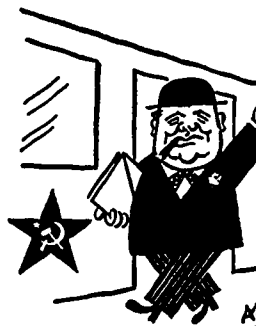

They had the same reaction back in 1927, when they selected Benét's narrative poem of the American Civil War—"John Brown's Body." The following year "John Brown's Body" was awarded the Pulitzer Prize, and ever since Stephen Vincent Benét has been recognized as one of our greatest poets.

Long before Pearl Harbor, Benét in his poetry warned us of the menace of fascism and tried to prepare us spiritually for the war to come. Then when we entered the war, he threw all his energies into writing poems and radio plays to inspire the American people for the great task on hand.

That Stephen Vincent Benét died when he did, in the full tide of his powers, was an inestimable loss to American literature. That he was able to finish his epic "Western Star" is something we can all be grateful for.

A hint for welcoming visiting celebrities: Richardson Wright in "The Bed-Book of Eating and Drinking" tells of a state visit which Louis XIV made to Rheims. At the gates of the city he was met by the city fathers, who addressed him thus: "Sire, we offer you our wine, our pearls, our gingerbread, our biscuits and our hearts."

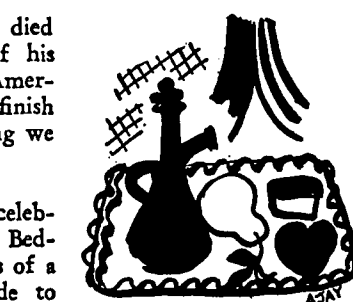

Mr. Wright's book, aside from containing many valuable hints about the preparation of food, contains scores of amusing anecdotes. Such as the one about the cook of a friend of his who gave notice. What was the trouble? Weren't the wages satisfactory, the bedroom, the time off? Yes, all these were. Then why was she leaving? "Because, Ma'am, there's too much shiftin' of the dishes for the fewness of the food."

When Winston Churchill arrived in Moscow for his visit to Stalin, relates Henry Cassidy in "Moscow Dateline," he greeted the Russian guard by raising his hand in his famous "V for Victory" salute. The Russians did not know what he meant—the word for "victory" in Russian is "pobeda." They speculated among themselves and finally decided that by raising his two fingers Mr. Churchill was promising them a quick Second Front.

that their particular bureau and their particular job would be supported.

Most of the more conservative members of the federal government, who have objected to the growth of bureaucracy anyway, see it as an extremely healthy sign to have the state leaders laying plans to get power away from the federal government and into the state governments.

Some keen observers here are under the impression that the federal bureaucracy is getting even bigger than the New Deal wants—and that its leaders now realize that by having millions of federal employees, they have created something which is beyond their power to control.

PRACTICE BLACKOUT CANCELLED IN STATE

Censorship Office Forbids Broadcast During Alert

Dr. Ralph Cooper Hutchinson, executive director of the State Council of Defense of Pennsylvania, today issued the following statement:

"The State-wide Educational Practice Blackout announced for 10.30 P. M., Thursday, July 8, has been cancelled by direction of the Office of Censorship.

"The State Council Offices were informed this afternoon by the Army's Third Service Command, by direction of Major General Milton A. Recker, that permission to hold the Educational Blackout with radio participation had been revoked. This action was apparently taken because the Office of Censorship had the proposed blackout with radio participation would be contrary to the censorship code.

"Permission to hold this blackout with radio co-operation was requested some time ago through the regular Army channels, and was granted last Friday. It had been arranged for 45 radio stations in Pennsylvania to broadcast during the drill a running explanation of the signals, as a means of promoting fuller public understanding. This they were to do as a patriotic service.

"It is our understanding that the Office of Censorship held radio participation in such an educational blackout would be in violation of the provision in the code that use of radio in practice blackouts would tend to create confusion in that it might cause people to depend on radio in a real air raid when radio would be off the air.

"Accordingly, notice is being given to our County Councils that the educational blackout has been canceled."

Boxes and Paper To Be Collected July 19

Monday morning, July 19, has been designated by the Salvage Committee of the Lower Merion of Defense as the day that the Salvation Army will collect corrugated boxes and brown paper from the business sections of Lower Merion Township, including Bala-Cynwyd, Ardmore and Bryn Mawr.

Stores having brown paper or knocked down corrugated boxes for collection should notify the Council of Defense at the Township Building, Ardmore 3700, in advance of July 19. "It will be necessary," says Ralph E. Springer, chairman of the Salvage Committee, "to have the brown paper bundled and the corrugated boxes knocked down for compact handling. This does not include the ordinary pasteboard boxes which have a very limited salvage value."

United War Chest Needs Volunteers for Red Feather Drive

The United War Chest which serves 180 community, health, social and youth agencies, national and local U. S. O. and foreign relief organizations, needs volunteers immediately to work at least four hours a week at headquarters. A vast amount of detail work must be completed during the summer months in order to complete the mobilization of the army of workers who participate in the Red Feather campaign.

Men and women, boys and girls, can be used to do the following types of work: typing, filing, stenography, bookkeeping, mailing, assembling and packing workers' kits and packages, count supplies, do hand addressing, general clerical work, etc.

Volunteer work in the United War Chest is recognized by the CDVO as vital war-time service, and volunteers completing 50 hours of work are entitled to wear the CDVO uniform and pin.

In addition, the United War Chest is anxious to begin the enrollment of workers who will serve as District Office Managers before and during the campaign, solicitors, and do telephone contact work in their own community.

Application for any of the above types of volunteer jobs should be made to United War Chest Headquarters, 123 South Broad Street, or by phoning Kingsley 4200.

Board Answers Questions on Book 3

The Ration Board has sent out the following information in answer to questions asked after the issuance of Ration Book 3.

Ration Books were validated by rubber stamp at time of issuance, and it was inevitable, under pressure of time, that some be missed. If a book has not been validated, it should be taken to the local war price and rationing board after July 15, and it will be validated for you.

Minor errors may have been made in spelling names, initials inserted or left out. The local board will make the necessary corrections.

In some instances, duplicate books have been issued because more than one application was received. This was mainly brought about by the fact that some people were confused as to how many applications had to be filed for one family. OPA urges the return of any duplicate books. No individual is allowed to possess or use more than one ration book of each series issued in his name. A master list is now being set up by OPA which will show up all duplications and anyone retaining and using a duplicate book will be subject to severe penalties.

If an application for War Ration Book 3 was not filed, it may be done after August 1.

31,889 Prisoner Parcels of Food Sent From Geneva

"Stalag," "Dulag," or "Ofag," might be just three more German words to most people, but to hundreds of American families they mean the addresses where their brothers, husbands or fathers are held prisoners of war in German camps. Stalag is an abbreviation of a German word meaning a prison camp for privates, Ofag is a permanent officers' prison camp, and Dulag is a transient camp. But whatever the camp, it is such an address on the labels furnished next of kin of captured United States personnel by the Office of Provost Marshal General which enables them to mail parcels to their brothers and husbands.

Italian prison camps are designated by P. G. and P. M., followed by a designating number. The P. M. is an area and the P. G. is a specific camp.

Through April 30, 1943, the American Red Cross had been informed of the dispatch of 31,889 parcels from Geneva to American soldiers in German and Italian prison camps.

The standard American Red Cross prisoner of war food parcel contains powdered whole milk, olive-margarine fortified with vitamin A, American cheese, pork luncheon meat, corned beef, liver pate, salmon, dried prunes, orange concentrate, army biscuits, sugar, coffee, chocolate, cigarettes and soap. Each parcel weighs eleven pounds, more than eight of which are food.

Order Weekly Parcels

The International Red Cross has been instructed to dispatch sufficient standard American Red Cross food parcels so that one may be distributed each week to each United States prisoner. Other United Nations prisoners of war receive American Red Cross food parcels, which are purchased by foreign Red Cross societies, governments in exile, and private relief organizations. Parcels for American prisoners are paid for by the Army and Navy.

New regulations have been issued by which close relatives of United Nations' prisoners of war may send standard food parcels to identified prisoners in Europe through the American Red Cross. These regulations, now effective, can be obtained from local Red Cross chapters, and cover prisoners of Belgian, Polish, Yugoslav, Norwegian, Dutch, Greek, and other nationalities. Prisoners held by Japan are not included in the new regulations.

tions, due to present lack of transportation facilities to the Far East.

The American Red Cross emphasized that only through placing an order for a standard Red Cross food parcel, and under certain regulations information about which can be obtained at the local Red Cross chapters, may these parcels be sent. They cost $3.50.

In addition to food parcels delivered each week, articles of clothing and other supplies are delivered to Americans in prison camps as they are needed. In March, 1943, the following distribution of such articles was reported by the International Committee to the American Red Cross: 900 overcoats, 1308 pairs of shoes, 1323 shirts, 1280 undershirts, 1306 shorts, 2280 pairs of socks, 2660 handkerchiefs, 155 trousers, 130 army caps, 130 gloves, one case disinfectant, 100 toilet sanitary articles.

Relatives Send Parcels

The same type of standard food parcel is distributed weekly to all American prisoners of war, and is paid for by the United States Army and Navy. Private parcels may be sent direct to American prisoners whose next of kin reside in the United States, to whom labels are issued by the Office of the Provost Marshal General, War Department, Washington, D. C., or by any individual to whom the next of kin transfers his label. Labels issued by the Department of War Services, Ottawa, Canada, to next of kin in the United States of captured members of the Canadian forces authorize the sending of a private parcel each 90 days.

The American Red Cross does not accept contributions for the standard food parcels for United States' prisoners, but does accept unrestricted contributions for general relief to United States' prisoners, applying such funds to the purchase and shipment of medical supplies, cigarettes, tobacco and other comfort articles not provided by the Army and Navy.

INSTALLATIONS of Telephones in Cynwyd, Merion and Narberth RESTRICTED

In order to conserve critical war materials, the War Production Board has set a limit to the number of telephones that may be connected to a central office.

That limit has now been reached in the Cynwyd-Merion-Narberth Central Office. Accordingly we cannot make further installations of telephones except (1) those required for direct defense or for public health, welfare or security as defined in the War Production Board's order; or (2) to the extent that future disconnections of service permit.

We regret that these restrictions must be imposed. But we are sure that those affected will agree that the needs of our armed forces are paramount.

This Week in Washington

WASHINGTON, D. C. (NWNS)

—Ever since the state governments got together in Columbus and compared notes on how the federal government is gradually taking over control of their states, there has been a rapidly developing movement here to cut down on the activities of out-of-Washington offices of federal agencies.

Some of the governors pointed out that the number of federal employees located in their states is five to six times as great as the number of state employees. They analyzed how these federal agencies were taking over one state power after another. As the facts came out, the governors became more and more angry over the situation and finally all got together in passing a resolution to have their executive committee stop any further encroachments on their territory. They intend to have every new piece of legislation creating a peace time bureau examined—and to work out amendments to such legislation which put the administration of new bureaus under the state governments.

Congressmen, who want the support of their state governors, are reviewing the statements of the governors with great interest. They realize that the majority of state leaders are in agreement with the sentiments strongly expressed by Governor Herbert B. Maw, of Utah, who said:

"Today the bureaus are non-political. They owe their allegiance to no party. They are affected by no elections. They are not controlled by the will of the public. Yet they are one of the strongest single political influences in the nation, throwing the weight of their huge voting power not necessarily in support of those candidates of either party that are striving to carry out the mandates of the voters, but in support of those who will sustain them in their bureaucratic security and will not disrupt their organizations."

Political analysts here were particularly interested in Governor Maw's reference to these bureau workers as "non-political." It has been the general opinion that, since many of the bureaus were created by the New Deal, that the bureaus are a strong New Deal force. But Governor Maw made it clear that, having become secure in their jobs, the bureaucrats were loyal only to themselves and would support whatever party would assure them

READING & WRITING

BY Edwin Seaver AND Robin McKoun

WHEN Stephen Vincent Benét died a short time ago, he was just putting the finishing touches to a long narrative poem called "Western Star." In this poem, he told the exciting story—as only he could tell it—of the early colonization of what we know today as the United States—particularly the founding of the Jamestown and Provincetown colonies.

STEPHEN VINCENT BENÉT

The poem was shown to the judges of the Book-of-the-Month Club while it was still in manuscript form, and they immediately selected it for distribution as one of the July choices. Rarely, the judges say, have they come across anything as thrilling as Benét's last poem.

They had the same reaction back in 1927, when they selected Benét's narrative poem of the American Civil War—"John Brown's Body." The following year "John Brown's Body" was awarded the Pulitzer Prize, and ever since Stephen Vincent Benét has been recognized as one of our greatest poets.

Long before Pearl Harbor, Benét in his poetry warned us of the menace of fascism and tried to prepare us spiritually for the war to come. Then when we entered the war, he threw all his energies into writing poems and radio plays to inspire the American people for the great task on hand.

That Stephen Vincent Benét died when he did, in the full tide of his powers, was an inestimable loss to American literature. That he was able to finish his epic "Western Star" is something we can all be grateful for.

A hint for welcoming visiting celebrities: Richardson Wright in "The Book of Eating and Drinking" tells of a state visit which Louis XIV made to Rheims. At the gates of the city he was met by the city fathers, who addressed him thus: "Sire, we offer you our wine, our pears, our gingerbread, our biscuits and our hearts."

Mr. Wright's book, aside from containing many valuable hints about the preparation of food, contains scores of amusing anecdotes. Such as the one about the cook of a friend of his who gave notice. What was the trouble? Weren't the wages satisfactory, the bedroom, the time off? Yes, all these were. Then why was she leaving? "Because, Ma'am, there's too much shiffin' of the dishes for the fewness of the food."

When Winston Churchill arrived in Moscow for his visit to Stalin, relates Henry Cassidy in "Moscow Dated," he greeted the Russian guard by raising his hand in his famous "V for Victory" salute. The Russians did not know what he meant—the word for "victory" in Russian is "pobeda." They speculated among themselves and finally decided that by raising his two fingers Mr. Churchill was promising them a quick Second Front.

that their particular bureau and their particular job would be supported.

Most of the more conservative members of the federal government, who have objected to the growth of bureaucracy anyway, see it as an extremely healthy sign to have the state leaders laying plans to get power away from the federal government and into the state governments.

Some keen observers here are under the impression that the federal bureaucracy is getting even bigger than the New Deal wants—and that its leaders now realize that by having millions of federal employees, they have created something which is beyond their power to control.

Corn Borer Damage Potato Plantings

First generation European corn borer have been found damaging early potato plantings, according to County Agent H. O. Wilcox of Media. Several large early potato fields in the county have been found rather heavily infested with this insect. Just how serious the damage will be cannot be told as yet. There is nothing that can be done at this time to check the damage.

The borer is also present in early sweet corn and damage will be heavy in some plantings. It is generally recommended that early sweet corn be plowed under or burned as soon as the crop is harvested. It will also help to clean up and destroy pithy stemmed weeds in the vicinity of gardens and corn fields as the borer attacks all kinds of pithy stemmed plants including weeds. This clean-up should not be delayed as the borers are starting to pupate at the present time, and a second generation will be starting in about three weeks. Full information on this pest can be obtained at the Agricultural Extension Office in the Court House, Media.

PRACTICE BLACKOUT CANCELLED IN STATE

Censorship Office Forbids Broadcast During Alert

Dr. Ralph Cooper Hutchinson, executive director of the State Council of Defense of Pennsylvania, today issued the following statement:

"The State-wide Educational Practice Blackout announced for 10.30 P. M., Thursday, July 8, has been cancelled by direction of the Office of Censorship.

"The State Council Offices were informed this afternoon by the Army's Third Service Command, by direction of Major General Milton A. Recker, that permission to hold the Educational Blackout with radio participation had been revoked. This action was apparently taken because the Office of Censorship had the proposed blackout with radio participation would be contrary to the censorship code.

"Permission to hold this blackout with radio co-operation was requested some time ago through the regular Army channels, and was granted last Friday. It had been arranged for 45 radio stations in Pennsylvania to broadcast during the drill a running explanation of the signals, as a means of promoting fuller public understanding. This they were to do as a patriotic service.

"It is our understanding that the Office of Censorship held radio participation in such an educational blackout would be in violation of the provision in the code that use of radio in practice blackouts would tend to create confusion in that it might cause people to depend on radio in a real air raid when radio would be off the air.

"Accordingly, notice is being given to our County Councils that the educational blackout has been canceled."

Boxes and Paper To Be Collected July 19

Monday morning, July 19, has been designated by the Salvage Committee of the Lower Merion of Defense as the day that the Salvation Army will collect corrugated boxes and brown paper from the business sections of Lower Merion Township, including Bala-Cynwyd, Ardmore and Bryn Mawr.

Stores having brown paper or knocked down corrugated boxes for collection should notify the Council of Defense at the Township Building, Ardmore 3700, in advance of July 19. "It will be necessary," says Ralph E. Springer, chairman of the Salvage Committee, "to have the brown paper bundled and the corrugated boxes knocked down for compact handling. This does not include the ordinary pasteboard boxes which have a very limited salvage value."

United War Chest Needs Volunteers for Red Feather Drive

The United War Chest which serves 180 community, health, social and youth agencies, national and local U. S. O. and foreign relief organizations, needs volunteers immediately to work at least four hours a week at headquarters. A vast amount of detail work must be completed during the summer months in order to complete the mobilization of the army of workers who participate in the Red Feather campaign.

Men and women, boys and girls, can be used to do the following types of work: typing, filing, stenography, bookkeeping, mailing, assembling and packing workers' kits and packages, count supplies, do hand addressing, general clerical work, etc.

Volunteer work in the United War Chest is recognized by the CDVO as vital war-time service, and volunteers completing 50 hours of work are entitled to wear the CDVO uniform and pin.

In addition, the United War Chest is anxious to begin the enrollment of workers who will serve as District Office Managers before and during the campaign, solicitors, and do telephone contact work in their own community.

Application for any of the above types of volunteer jobs should be made to United War Chest Headquarters, 123 South Broad Street, or by phoning Kingsley 4200.

Board Answers Questions on Book 3

The Ration Board has sent out the following information in answer to questions asked after the issuance of Ration Book 3.

Ration Books were validated by rubber stamp at time of issuance, and it was inevitable, under pressure of time, that some be missed. If a book has not been validated, it should be taken to the local war price and rationing board after July 15, and it will be validated for you.

Minor errors may have been made in spelling names, initials inserted or left out. The local board will make the necessary corrections.

In some instances, duplicate books have been issued because more than one application was received. This was mainly brought about by the fact that some people were confused as to how many applications had to be filed for one family. OPA urges the return of any duplicate books. No individual is allowed to possess or use more than one ration book of each series issued in his name. A master file is now being set up by OPA which will show up all duplications and anyone retaining and using a duplicate book will be subject to severe penalties.

If an applications for War Ration Book 3 was not filed, it may be done after August 1.

31,889 Prisoner Parcels of Food Sent From Geneva

"Stalag," "Dulag," or "Ofag," might be just three more German words to most people, but to hundreds of American families they mean the addresses where their brothers, husbands or fathers are held prisoners of war in German camps. Stalag is an abbreviation of a German word meaning a prison camp for prisoners. Ofag is a permanent officers' prison camp, and Dulag is a transient camp. But whatever the camp, it is such an address on the labels furnished next of kin of captured United States personnel by the Office of Provost Marshal General which enables them to mail parcels to their brothers and husbands.

Italian prison camps are designated by P. G. and P. M., followed by a designating number. The P. M. is an area and the P. G. is a specific camp.

Through April 30, 1943, the American Red Cross had been informed of the dispatch of 31,889 parcels from Geneva to American soldiers in German and Italian prison camps.

The standard American Red Cross prisoner of war food parcel contains powdered whole milk, oleomargarine fortified with vitamin A, American cheese, pork luncheon meat, corned beef, liver pate, salmon, dried prunes, orange concentrate, army biscuits, sugar, coffee, chocolate, cigarettes and soap. Each parcel weighs eleven pounds, more than eight of which are food.

Order Weekly Parcels

The International Red Cross has been instructed to dispatch sufficient standard American Red Cross food parcels so that one may be distributed each week to each United States' prisoner. Other United Nations prisoners of war receive American Red Cross food parcels, which are purchased by foreign Red Cross societies, governments in exile, and private relief organizations. Parcels for American prisoners are paid for by the Army and Navy.

New regulations have been issued by which close relatives of United Nations' prisoners of war may send standard food parcels to identified prisoners in Europe through the American Red Cross. These regulations, now effective, can be obtained from local Red Cross chapters, and cover prisoners of Belgian, Polish, Yugoslav, Norwegian, Dutch, Greek, and other nationalities. Prisoners held by Japan are not included in the new regulations.

tions, due to present lack of transportation facilities to the Far East.

The American Red Cross emphasized that only through placing an order for a standard Red Cross food parcel, and under certain regulations information about which can be obtained at the local Red Cross chapters, may these parcels be sent. They cost $3.50.

In addition to food parcels delivered each week, articles of clothing and other supplies are delivered to Americans in prison camps as they are needed. In March, 1943, the following distribution of such articles was reported by the International Committee to the American Red Cross: 900 overcoats, 1308 pairs of shoes, 1323 shirts, 1280 undershirts, 1306 shorts, 2280 pairs of socks, 2660 handkerchiefs, 155 trousers, 130 army caps, 130 gloves, one case disinfectant, 100 toilet sanitary articles.

Relatives Send Parcels

The same type of standard food parcel is distributed weekly to all American prisoners of war, and is paid for by the United States Army and Navy. Private parcels may be sent direct to American prisoners whose next of kin reside in the United States, to whom labels are issued by the Office of the Provost Marshal General, War Department, Washington, D. C., or by any individual to whom the next of kin transfers his label. Labels issued by the Department of War Services, Ottawa, Canada, to next of kin in the United States of captured members of the Canadian forces authorize the sending of a private parcel each 90 days.

The American Red Cross does not accept contributions for the standard food parcels for United States' prisoners, but does accept unrestricted contributions for general relief to United States' prisoners, applying such funds to the purchase and shipment of medical supplies, cigarettes, tobacco and other comfort articles not provided by the Army and Navy.

INSTALLATIONS of Telephones in Cynwyd, Merion and Narberth RESTRICTED

In order to conserve critical war materials, the War Production Board has set a limit to the number of telephones that may be connected to a central office.

That limit has now been reached in the Cynwyd-Merion-Narberth Central Office. Accordingly we cannot make further installations of telephones except (1) those required for direct defense or for public health, welfare or security as defined in the War Production Board's order; or (2) to the extent that future disconnections of service permit.

We regret that these restrictions must be imposed. But we are sure that those affected will agree that the needs of our armed forces are paramount.

77 ACCIDENTAL DEATHS HERE IN '43

Exceeds Number of Service Deaths Since Pearl Harbor

Accidents have caused more deaths in Montgomery County in the first half of this year than the total of fatalities to men in the armed forces from Montgomery County since Pearl Harbor, more than a year and one-half, according to figures released today by the Montgomery County Coroner, W. J. Rushong.

The accidental deaths for the County for the six months period of 1943 total 77 while deaths to men in the service, based on records of Raymond L. Henninger, County Registrar of Veterans' Graves and Veterans' Service Officer, number approximately 70.

The accident figures also represent a rise of 8.7 percent as compared with the same period of 1942. The actual increase is 10.

In only two classifications did accidental deaths show a decrease over 1942, those being highway with 17 this year compared to 22 in the same period last year, and agricultural with none for the first six months as compared to two last year.

Home may be sweet but it is not safe, according to the statistics. Thirty-six persons have died this year as a result of home accidents to date. In this connection, it might be noted that nine of the home accident victims were patients at the Norristown State Hospital. Under the classification system used by the Coroner, such victims are listed in the "home" category. The figure for this year's home deaths is 10 higher than for the same period last year.

Industrial accidents, involving essential war workers, showed a 100 percent jump as compared to the January through June period of 1942. Ten industrial workers lost their lives this year and five last.

Public transportation claimed but one death to date, the same as in 1942.

Public deaths, such as drownings, etc., totaled 12, an increase of one over last year.

Military personnel, a special classification, had one death for the six months and none last year for the same period.

Falls continued to be one of the outstanding causes of all fatal accidental highway deaths, 12, or 70 percent, involved pedestrians, indicating the class which is in greater danger using the streets in these days of gas rationing and banned pleasure driving.

The number of highway deaths for the six month period, 17, is significant also, according to Robert M. Cameron, County Safety Engineer, in that it includes the periods when pleasure driving has been banned while the corresponding first six months of 1942, free of gas restrictions, saw but five fewer highway deaths.

Narberth Wins Two; Retaining Lead

Manoa Roads and Overbrook will seek revenge for an earlier defeat when it takes on the West Phils at 49th St. and Haverford Ave. in other games.

Neither Manoa nor the West Phils were able to play their scheduled games with Pen-Mar and Brookline, respectively, last Monday because most of their players were tied up in war work.

Highlight of the week-end, of course, was O'Donnell's no-hit, no-run performance. He became only the sixth pitcher in the long history of Main Line League baseball to achieve this feat and his job came closer to being a perfect game than any of the others.

There wasn't a single questionable play, as sometimes is the case when a pitcher is given credit for a no-hitter. O'Donnell had the West Phils popping up and grounding out weakly all the way with nothing ever coming close to resembling a hit. He only fanned four, but he didn't issue a single pass and only two men reached first on errors and none of these got any further. In fact, O'Donnell picked one of them off the bag almost as soon as he reached there.

It was the first time in O'Donnell's career that he crashed the hall of fame and he became the second Narberth hurler to turn the trick in the league. Walt Masters performed ditto in 1937. Wells Supplee, of Paoli, hurled the last previous no-hitter in the league two years ago.

Narberth was only able to get five hits from Jim Sullivan, West Phils pitcher, but bunched them for a single run in the second, and sixth and two in the seventh. Incidentally, O'Donnell drove in one of these last runs with a long out-field fly.

Hoffman Pulls Out Of County Fight

J. Davis. On the strength of this, Hoffman has tried to lay claims to the State patronage.

Hoffman's statement was bitter in parts:

He said that he had "labored under the delusion that the old adage to the victor belongs the spoils still held and was content to abide with the results. Apparently such is not the case."

Also Hoffman charged that "certain character assassins in both high and low places have created such an intolerable situation that my candidacy would not be viewed in its proper perspective but would be construed as an attempt to disrupt the so-called harmony in the Republican Party which is supposed to exist here in the County."

He referred to the State Administration and patronage as follows:

"By all the rules of the game, I was entitled to control of the State patronage and at least the moral support of the present State Administration which I helped establish. When I failed to obtain this help, I was left well out on the political limb, but it certainly is no intention of mine to drag my supporters out with me."

As to running for office Hoffman said:

"I do not choose to be a candidate for the office of Register of Wills nor any other county office at the coming election in September."

Get Strawberry Patch Ready for 1944 Crop

Is the strawberry patch worth carrying over for a second crop, or should it be plowed under after the first harvest?

In answering this question, County Agent H. O. Wilcox says that with fertile soil comparatively free from weeds and with a good stand of vigorous healthy plants, satisfactory results may be expected in renewing the patch. Under opposite conditions, it is not likely to be worthwhile. It is seldom, if ever, advisable to hold a planting beyond second picking season.

When renewing a patch for a second crop, the object should be to destroy most of the plants which have fruited and save enough to produce a full row of new runner plants for next year's crop.

Soon after the harvest season, mow the tops rather high, removing most of the old leaves and avoiding injury to the crowns. Take up the leaves and any remaining mulch and remove from the patch.

Broadcast on top of the rows a liberal amount of commercial fertilizer. An application of 400 to 600 pounds to the acre of a complete fertilizer, such as 4-12-4, may be used.

Drive on top of the row with a spring-tooth harrow or other cultivator, digging out many of the plants and loosening the soil in the row. One or two trips in the same direction over the row should be enough. Harrow the row to 8 to 12 inches with the cultivator. If the ground is very dry, it may be wise to omit digging on top of the row with the harrow, but in this case after the row is narrowed to 8 to 12 inches the soil in the row can be loosened with a heavy hoe or mattock.

Thoroughly cultivate the middle, dress up the remaining plants with a hoe, leaving individual plants spaced 6 to 12 inches apart, and tend the patch for the rest of the season as though it were a first year planting.

Strawberry culture is more completely discussed in the Pennsylvania State College extension circular 181, "Strawberry Growing in Pennsylvania," which is available from the Agricultural Extension Office.

On Monday, Narberth clubbed Kurfess and Heavey, Overbrook hurlers, for 13 hits, sewing up the game as early as the first inning when it scored three runs. Buddy Walker, with a triple and two singles, paced the attack.

Bob Allison fanned 10 as he handcuffed Overbrook with just four hits on Sunday. Regardless, Overbrook was very much in the game until the fifth when South-paw Harry Robinson, conqueror of Pen-Mar last Thursday, weakened and was chased with a three-run uprising. Larry File's home run was a feature of the victory.

Allie Gwynn, who caught and played third base for the Manoa A. A., has joined the Trenton team of the professional Inter-State League.

Gwynn, a former West Chester State Teachers College star, and one of the outstanding all-around players in the Main Line League, was the hero of Manoa's decisive triumph over Narberth in last year's championship series. He was voted runnerup for the most valuable player award during the regular season.

Gwynn is supervisor of athletics in the Haverford Township grade schools.

Manoa also has lost the services of Jack Miller, youthful first baseman, who has entered the Army.

Have you fighting blood? Put it into action! July 28 and 29.

TODAY and TOMORROW By DON ROBINSON

OPINION . . . action

There is one outstanding fact that public opinion polls of the last few years have brought to light, namely, that the collective vision and collective decisions of the people are miles ahead of their political leaders. Given the facts, the people pass a snap judgment which their leaders come around to months or years later.

Take the doings of labor leader John L. Lewis as an example. The people urged legislation even before the war started which would have made such actions impossible. For two years at least, public opinion surveys have shown that the public—including labor itself—favored anti-strike legislation. But the representatives of the people needed to have this fact banged into their heads from a dozen different directions before they took any action—and its doubtful if they will take as strong action as the people want until they have had a dozen more demonstrations of the vital need for it.

Another recent example was pay-as-you-go taxation. Immediately after it was suggested, every poll made of public opinion, showed the people had made up their minds and were overwhelmingly for it—but it took congressmen many months to agree to it and then they did it in a half-hearted way.

PUBLIC . . . judgment Even on questions of warfare, which a lot of us feel should not be decided by parlor generals, public opinion has so far proved to be more nearly right than expert opinion.

The public, for example, was partially convinced over a year ago that Germany might be knocked out of the war if we could muster up sufficient air power to destroy her factories and demoralize her people. But military leaders pooch-pooched that idea as "fantastic"—and not until the last few months have they come around to agreeing that this is now a probability.

For at least four years before Pearl Harbor, according to the polls of the American Institute of Public Opinion, the public opposed the shipment of scrap iron and oil to Japan. Even then, the people, as a group sensed the fact that this to fight against us—but it wasn't until shortly before Japanese bombers set out for Pearl Harbor that our government leaders finally put a halt to those shipments.

It is evidence like this which has led Dr. George Gallup, director of the Institute of Public Opinion, who has made more opinion surveys than any man alive, to say of such surveys: "They have served to reaffirm faith in the judgment of the common man. They have provided sound statistical proof to back up the major premise of democracy, which is belief in public opinion."

ANSWERS . . . action

Dr. Gallup has an interesting way of demonstrating the soundness of the collective opinion of a group of people. He will draw a line three feet long on a blackboard and ask each person in the room to write on a slip of paper how long they think the line is. Although no one may give just the exact figure, the average for a sizeable group invariably is three feet the right answer.

This accuracy of collective opinion as opposed to individual opinion can be applied to all kinds of things. One man may want pay-as-you-go taxation because he thinks it will save him money. Another may want it because he thinks it will make it easier for the government to collect taxes. Another may want it because he can't seem to save money for taxes. Another may want it because a friend of his, whose opinion he respects, thinks it's a good idea. Iron and oil was going to be used. But when the great majority of people want it—even though each may have a different reason for arriving at the same conclusion—there is little question that it is a sound program.

The public usually gets what it wants eventually in our democracy. But a lot of national headaches could probably be avoided if we could shorten the period between the time the people make up their minds and the time their leaders finally get around to doing something about it.

Top Prices Set On Food On R. R. Trains

The Lower Merion Council of Defense advises people of this area who must travel on trains that ceiling prices have been set for food sold in dining cars, and by "butchers."

Effective July 1, OPA has placed dollars-and-cents maximum prices on "economy" meals served on railroad dining cars. Standard types of breakfast will be made available at a top ceiling price of 85c; luncheon at $1.00 and dinner at $1.10. The standard meals are stripped of appetizer and dessert stripped of appetizer and dessert courses. A la carte breakfast items will continue to be served, not to exceed 60c.

Food and beverages other than the economy meals will be served at prices not to exceed those charged between February 1 to April 10.

OPA has also set dollars-and-cents prices for sandwiches, candy bars, and other foods as well as coffee and other beverages served by "butchers." This action is designed to protect servicemen traveling on furlough and civilians making short trips and requiring sandwiches, candies, or beverages. Sandwiches have a top price of 15c. Top price for coffee, milk, soft drinks, pie, packages of ice cream, chocolate or candy bars, etc., is 10c. Maximum prices must be posted on the basket or affixed to each item of food or beverage.

LEGION POSTS SEEK OLD RECORDINGS

Discs Are Sold As Scrap for Funds to Buy New Ones

Legions Posts, No. 355, in Bala-Cynwyd, and No. 545, in Merion, are co-operating in the national drive to collect old phonographic records.

The records are sold as scrap, and new records are bought with the proceeds of the sale. Last year, 370,000 new records were bought in this way, but requests from the members of the Armed Services for the records totaled 3,823,797—ten times the number available.

Consequently, Legionnaires all over America are renewing their efforts in this year's campaign to recruit records.

Any residents who have old records are requested to call either the commander or the adjutant of either Post, who will arrange to have the discs picked up.

Guy Croyle, Centennial Rd., Penn Valley, Narberth, is commander of Post 355. K. Huntley, Broadway and Ashland Ave., Secane, is adjutant.

Byron B. Pace is commander of Merion Post, No. 545. His address is 120 Winchester Rd., Merion Station. Adjutant is Howard A. Weaver, 40 S. Narberth Ave., Narberth.
